This two storey building of 2000 sqm was conceived as being both part of, yet self contained from the Bodio Centre, with its entrances addressing the gardens of Piazzale Lugano. The lower floor contains car parking and the two double height entrance lobbies, with a single level of office space on the first floor. With a building width of 27 metres, and a solid boundary wall to the north, the first floor contains two internal courtyards to provide daylight, aspect and amenity for the office space. A wide balcony runs the width of the south-east elevation and circular roof lights enhance special areas of the interior.
